Used at a fresher for the livingroom only though. Generally not a fan of estee Lauder parfumes. But this one is beautiful. Just not my style for wearing. PWL opens with a sharp, green, ozonic blast, according to Estee Lauder's website, this has a "Cool fresh air accord" which may be what I can detect on the initial opening which melds with the dewy green notes, the ozonic feeling stays on my skin throughout wear, the green notes mellow out and gentle floral notes start to emerge; red tulip and white freesia to be specific, then the cedarwood peaks out towards the end of the drydown and rounds off the ozonic and floral notes which helps to ground and add depth to the airy accords. -A discontinued scent that the counter still kept a bottle of. -Opens smelling clean and fresh. -Dries down a touch too perfumey for my liking. (-). Read about this perfume in other languages: Deutsch, Español, Français, Italiano, Русский, Polski, Português, Ελληνικά, 中文, Nederlands, Srpski, Română, العربية, Українська, Монгол, עברית. It is very clean and so stark white I feel like I can't get dirty because I have to go somewhere. Not terribly interesting for me. Someone mentioned antiseptic soap and I get that. Kind of like antiseptic soap with added floral scent. On töenäoline, et selle toote hind langeb järgneva 3 nädala jooksul 10% võrra!. So fresh, clean, green, and floral in the best sense of the world. The honeysuckle, heliotrope, freesia, tuberose, grapefruit and apple combination create a garden fresh scent that will sweep you away!! I hope Estee Lauder never takes Pure White Linen off the market. It really doesn't have the DNA of the original White Linen. It's its own scent and it's very original. I can't compare it to anything else. And as always, it has that unmistakable Estee Lauder quality. Pure White Linen is delicious and captivating. A wonderful addition to my collection! It smells clean without smelling soapy (a personal dislike) and also evokes imagery of warm sunshine hitting your shoulders on that first hot day of the year. I adore the subtle floral notes in here - particularly the honeysuckle, which is another personal favourite. This is much more gorgeous than the original white linen. Citrus and white flower mingle everywhere to make this scent so pretty. The dry down is real crisp and floral. Really, really pretty, it reminds me of something Jessica McLintock would invent rather than Estee Lauder. This house of Estee Lauder is arguable the best in the industry at doing clean, fresh, aldehydic fragrances. There is a common thread that runs through almost all Estee Lauder fragrances: the American idea of beauty, which is strongly associated with being clean, healthy, well groomed, and upper middle class. To wear an Estee Lauder perfume is to aspire to these aforementioned qualities. Since many Estee Lauder fragrances share this DNA whenever I spray Pure White Linen it briefly reminds me of my grandmother and mother, even though they never wore it, their Estee Lauder fragrances are Beautiful and Pleasures. This is beautiful! Very clean, fresh and creamy. One spray blew me away. If you love white flowers this is for you. Beauty test: mitkä Estée Lauder -tuotteet sopivat sinulle?. I rarely find flankers that I like, but Estee Lauder is very protective of their perfumes, and is especially careful with their classics, such as White Linen. Pure White Linen is a perfect modern interpretation of the original, it's a fruity floral that feels light, bright, and sparkling. As the name indicates it's a soft, delicate and elegant scent. Very classy floral which just makes me feel comfortable and makes other people feel comfortable around me as well! I use this perfume (or the rose n roses from Dior) if I have a business meeting, somehow people get really relaxed quite quickly as this scent reminds many people for something, I was the same, I thought it's a familiar scent which makes me feel home (if that makes sense??) I get nice comments when I'm wearing it and I would highly recommend it to anybody. This is a class act - feminine, classy, understated, and - in my view - a safe blind buy. This will become one of my staples. You don't have permission to access " on this server. Reference #18.df745968.1637360736.3224ac32. Delicate, aristocratic, crispy scent of the many components. I feel all kinds of flowers..white flowers! For the lovers of the white flowers this fragrance might be a safe blind buy. Very well-blended flowers! Cant even tell what this fragrance reminds me of..I would say, that nothing from Estee Lauder reminds it even slightly..This scent is on its own:) There is no aldehydes here, like in White linen. There is no retro feeling at all, like in "Beautiful" or "Dew". It is a modern scent in a good way. There is the feeling of cleanliness. Fragrance is clean here, but without any sharpness, no synthetic musk- very very appropriate, soft cleanliness. I have the mini 4ml bottle from a sampler set. I won't buy a full size bottle. It's a nice enough fragrance but not for me. It is very clean and so stark white I feel like I can't get dirty because I have to go somewhere. Not terribly interesting for me. Someone mentioned antiseptic soap and I get that. Kind of like antiseptic soap with added floral scent. On my skin its very masculine aftershave fragrance.. i want to love IT but all i can smell is aftershave:(. This is a really delicate and elegant fragrance, but fresh and sweet enough that it can be worn by any age. It smells clean without smelling soapy (a personal dislike) and also evokes imagery of warm sunshine hitting your shoulders on that first hot day of the year. I adore the subtle floral notes in here - particularly the honeysuckle, which is another personal favourite. These days I don't think I would repurchase PWL or WL again because I'm into different types of scents, but I absolutely adore smelling it on others, and it's always a bliss to find a tester and smell it from a card. I remember wearing it during hot summer times, and it was divine. Type the characters you see in this image:. Having experimented with loud and divisive perfumes over recent weeks, I blind-bought a bottle of this and it was like a hug. Just so comforting and classic! Perhaps that is where my heart truly lies. Oh, isn't this just lovely? I get very, very clean white flowers, airy, delicate, understated and just lovely. It's definitely pure, definitely white, but linen I don't get at all, and I see no similarities with White Linen. This one feels like getting out of the shower and putting on some nice body lotion. Very nice and very comforting. This to me has nothing to do with the original White Linen..This one is very fresh, clean, ethereal and soft skin scent..Great at any temperature. Love the bottle. Very clean, fresh and creamy. One spray blew me away. If you love white flowers this is for you. The name is on point, as this is another super clean fragrance to wear in a bashing hot weather. On my skin, it opens with mandarin peel and green apple and slowly drifts into the white flower territory, where the most prominent notes are honeysuckle and freesia. I'd like it a lot more if it weren't so sweet and if it lasted more than 1h on my skin. The aldehydes on my skin are interpreting it to be an antiseptic-soap scent. I work in a hospital and it brings me right to the scent of our foam hand cleanser we use before and after entering patient rooms, and anytime in-between. It's odd because, when I put my nose right on my skin, it smells so beautiful - creamy florals which I love. But a distance away from my skin and it's all antiseptic. To finish off this bottle, I'll spray it on my knees and lower. I work a lot so hopefully it goes quickly, and I'm sure it won't bother anyone since it smells so close to the foam cleanser in the dispensers throughout the building. It is a proper skin scent - it stays close to you but, like Chanel Beige, smells as though it has been your scent your whole adult life. Pure White Linen is a modern interpretation of a classical White Linen which was created in 2006. Aldehydes that are included in the composition give an impression of white cleanliness. In addition to aldehydes, a plentiful of exotic flowers was used for creation of this fragrance. The main notes are grapefruit, mandarin, raspberry, pear, green Granny Smith apple, white ginger, cardamom, red tulips, rose absolute, honeysuckle, gardenia, tuberose, jasmine, iris, osmanthus, cedar wood and heliotrope. Crispy, fresh and glacial, Pure White Linen is perfect for warm, humid weather, its a far cry from the usual citrus and aquatic summer fragrances that are around. I used to wear this a lot when it was first launched but these days I find it to floral and too clean, it needs a stronger woody note to make it less pure and a little dirty. P.S:I could not expose on this fragrance any critics..even, if it would be paid to me for that:). Pure White Linen by Estée Lauder is a Floral Aldehyde fragrance for women. Pure White Linen was launched in 2006. Pure White Linen was created by Sophie Labbe and Yves Cassar. Top notes are Green Notes, Grapefruit, Freesia, Apple, Pear, Italian Mandarin and Raspberry; middle notes are Red Tulip, Honeysuckle, Jasmine, Gardenia, Tuberose and Rose; base notes are Cedar, White Heliotrope and Patchouli. For the price, I was very disappointed. It's not the scent itself, it does have a similar scent to the original, just weaker in some ways. What is added to it is the problem. There's something so sharp it literally burns my nose. By the time I get to work and my nose has stopped burning, the scent has weakened until I feel no one can smell it. It wears like a cheap body spray. I suppose it's possible that my sinuses are so fried by the tear gas effect it has upon first spraying it that I just lose my sense of smell, but no one has mentioned it smelling good, and I can't smell it either, so what was the use of throwing away over 100.00? For a clean, summer scent, I still favor Cartier's Baiser Vole. Fresh, clean, summer scent. For all those floral notes, what comes through most strongly for me is the green, which I don't enjoy. Also, which diminishes its femininity and makes it sterile, almost like a cleaning product. I decided to let go of it. I love to wear White Linen in the summer. Someone gave me a gift of Pure White Linen by mistake a few years ago. I've tried to wear it periodically, but really disliked it. It just "sat" on me, never developed, and was just way too sharp and strong. It's pretty far away from my usual woody, spicy, and gourmand scents. I came back to it again this month, and as things do, something has changed. I don't get anything clean or soapy like White Linen. I would never have made a connection between PWL and WL as I find them nothing alike. The PWL florals are what really stand out to me. The longevity is amazing - I've had it on for 9 hours today and it is still strong. I fully expect to be able to detect it in the morning. That fantastic longevity is characteristic of all the EL perfumes I've used. So I'm to a "like" stage with PWL. It really is a perfect daytime scent, inoffensive yet different and a little sophisticated. It's quite lovely at this point and it's getting a touch of sweetness. Glad I gave it another try. Love this fragrance! So fresh, clean, green, and floral in the best sense of the world. The honeysuckle, heliotrope, freesia, tuberose, grapefruit and apple combination create a garden fresh scent that will sweep you away!!
